Former Lee Center Garage man Held Without Bail Monday

(Telegraph Special Service)
Kewanee, June 23—Perry Depew, former Lee Center garage man, was yesterday afternoon held to the grand jury without bonds on a charge of murder, the coroner's jury which investigated his shooting of Mrs. Pearl Buckley Hixon Saturday night, finding that "Depew is the unlawful slayer" of the woman and recommending that he be held without bail.

Mrs. Hixon was 33 years old. Depew is 30. The shooting occurred across the street from the Kewanee jail and hundreds of shoppers heard the report of the shot which caused the woman's death.

Woman Shopper Shot.
Depew was captured after a gun battle with the police, during which Mrs. William Streicher was shot in the leg and is in St. Francis hospital. Depew, according to the police, is sullen and silent and answers no questions.

Police, sitting in headquarters awaiting a call, were suddenly aroused by the rapid barking of a revolver directly across the street in front of the Tremont cafe at 845. Officer Frank Schindwein, revolver in hand, ran from the station, closely followed by Officer Richards. Depew saw them coming and opened fire on them. The officers returned the shots and Depew dropped to the pavement as if he had been shot. Examination, however, revealed that the shot only grazed his leg.

Other officers had responded to the call of the revolver shots and soon the street in front of the cafe was black with curious persons. Dr. J. T. Boswell and Dr. H. N. Heflin were summoned and pronounced Mrs. Hixon dead, saying she had been instantly killed. At the undertaker's morgue, examination showed that four 32-caliber bullets had entered her body, two in the breast, a third in her neck and the other one at the back of her neck.

Clarence Maddock of Madrid, Ore., a relative of Mrs. Hixon, was visiting her. Accompanied by her sister, Miss Phyllis Wood, and Miss Mary McLean, they entered the Tremont cafe shortly after 8:30. George Dennis, proprietor of the cafe, is a cousin of Mrs. Hixon.

They had been chatting at the table a short time when Depew entered. He walked directly to the table and, tapping Mrs. Hixon on the shoulder, asked her to step outside. She responded and appeared agitated. On the way out, Depew tore a letter to shreds and dropped the pieces. Police patched it together and it shows, it is alleged, that Depew killed her because she had rejected him. The letter follows:

Letter Held As Evidence.
"Friday evening—After a day of mental and bodily torture, I am wondering if you are satisfied.

"I am wondering just how you feel about all of it today and how you regard your actions of last night. Perhaps you will be surprised and perhaps you will not, but I am willing to throw up my hands and stay quit, after studying everything over today. Last night was the last straw and I have simply killed everything I ever felt for you. No better know these things now, before it is too late, for we both have had enough troubles. You do not need to blame my folks or anyone for this, but just yourself. Perhaps I was in the wrong part of the time, but it just seems we didn't fit in together.

"Don't try to see me, for it won't do any good. I trust you will forget me, as though I never had been and may the Lord forgive us both in my prayer."

Witnesses on the street said that no word was spoken between Depew and Mrs. Hixon preceding the shooting. Police investigation indicates that Mrs. Hixon and Depew had been keeping company for some time, that she was commencing to resent his attentions and finally refused to see him at all.

Meet in Hospital.
According to Dr. C. P. White, they first met at the St. Francis hospital, where Mr. Hixon was acting as a nurse. She attended Depew three weeks. Dr. White said Depew had been acting queerly of late and he had told him, "I can not control myself any more."

The revolver with which the murder was committed is a 32-caliber automatic. On one side of the wooden box is engraved the words, "In God We Trust" and on the reverse side, "My Honest Faith." All the cartridges in it had been fired.

Mrs. Hixon leaves two children, Rosemary, 10, and Lee, 7.

RICH BANK JUST

Officers of Northern Illinois Asked to Look for Thugs

BULLETIN
Galena, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Information received here today was that $75,000 had been taken by the robbers who looted the First National Bank of Shullburg, Wisconsin. The vault which they blew open with nitroglycerin was virtually destroyed. The principal officers of the bank are Judge Simpson, president, and J. J. Ameson, cashier.

Freeport, Ill., June 23—(AP)—Five bank robbers held the town of Shullburg, Wis., in a lead mining section, in terror for more than an hour early today, blew open the vault in the First National Bank and escaped with loot supposed to amount to a large sum.

Residents of the town of 1,200 population in southern Wisconsin were fired on by two of the robber band armed with shotguns who stood on guard while the others were at work in the bank.

Two or three explosions partly wrecked the bank building. The pair on guard fired a number of shots when townspeople, aroused by the explosions about 3 a. m., appeared at doors or windows.

Cut Telephone Wires.
Before entering the town the telephone wires were cut. While the robbers were in command of the town two motorists drove in to Shullburg and were made the targets of the robber guards who shot holes in the tires of their car and threatened them and sent them fleeing on foot out of town.

After the robbers escaped in an automobile residents of Shullburg drove ten miles to Scales Mound to give the alarm to surrounding towns and cities. James Simpson, president of the First National Bank, said the loss would be large but that there was such confusion that he was unable to give an estimate of the amount or the loot. The bank, in a prosperous region and lead mining country, ordinarily has deposits of about a quarter of a million dollars.

STANDARD OIL CO.
FILLING STATION
ROBBED IN NIGHT

$200 Taken from Safe in Station at Galena and Third

The local branch of the Standard Oil company was the victim of the third robbery in six weeks last night when the filling station at the corner of Galena avenue and Third street was entered. The robbers were discovered this morning by Clarence M. Good, station attendant, when he opened the place of business about 7 o'clock. Th dials and knobs had been knocked off the safe and all of the money with the exception of a nickel, taken. No tools were left lying about the room, and the work had the appearance of that of experts.

Entrance was gained through a window on the east side of the building. Three pieces of the leaded glass window were broken and the catches on the inside loosened, thus permitting the double window to swing open. It is believed that two men worked on the job, one standing guard on the outside of the building while another opened the safe. A large bottle of mustard gas was broken when the dial was knocked off the inner door of the safe, but this did not retard the activity of the cracksmen. The matter was reported at the police station at once and an investigation started.

Warehouse Was Robbed.
It was learned that this is the third robbery suffered by the company in the last six weeks. The office at the wholesale plant on East River street was entered about six weeks ago and ransacked but nothing of value is believed to have been taken. A few days ago, the wholesale plant was again entered and a truck load of oils and greases is believed to have been taken.

On this occasion, wire cutters were used in making an opening in the worn wire fence about the plant, through which many cans of oil and greases were carried and loaded into a truck. The exact amount of loss is not known locally, the inventory having been forwarded to the offices at Joliet.

Anti-Foreign Agitation in Canton Causes His Warnings

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Possibly serious developments in the Chinese situation were indicated today by reports, in some cases not confirmed, of attacks on Japanese officials in three cities in south China. In one case, the stoning of a Japanese consul at Ching Kiang, an apology was demanded and it was intimated Japanese might take strong action if apology were not made.

Reports from Ningpo described the anti-foreign movement as rampant and said rioters looted a foreign mess there. Japanese consuls were reported to have been stoned both at Chung King and Ching Kiang. A Japanese customs commissioner was reported killed and two Japanese injured at Wuchow. This report was not confirmed.

At Peking the diplomatic corps decided to open negotiations with the Chinese government regarding responsibility for the recent Shanghai strike troubles and for subsequent developments. At the same time the diplomatic corps sent to the Chinese foreign office a note refusing to accept responsibility for the delays in settling the Shanghai question. The note also charged the Chinese foreign office with narrating a version of the Shanghai incidents that does not accord with the facts.

According to witnesses, the machine in which the Dimons were riding was sideswiped by a car whose driver was making an effort to pass the Lanark machine.

Premature Celebration of Fourth to be Barred

An emergency ordinance regulating the sale of fireworks and providing a penalty for the firing of fireworks before the Fourth of July will doubtless be presented at the regular weekly meeting of the city commission this evening. The annual Fourth celebration is bringing in hundreds of complaints at the police station, it was said today, and some of the practices employed are said to have resulted in the necessity for emergency action by the council.

Throwing of cannon crackers and torpedoes at passing automobiles and pedestrians are among some of the many complaints that are being received at the police station, Chief Van Bibber stated this morning. Saturday evening an arrest was made and the celebrant fined three dollars and costs for discharging fireworks within the city fire limits.

Feeding Woodmen's Encampment Rivals Job of Army Chefs

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Feeding an encampment of Modern Woodmen is as much of a task as feeding a small army, says Brigadier General Maurice R. Smith, eminent balloonist and holder of the Distinguished Service Cross, who is in charge of a camp of some 6,000 Foresters, attending the twentieth quadrennial gathering of Modern Woodmen here this week.

In the first day of the encampment, which has been pitched at the Municipal Pier, more than three tons of meat, 8,000 bunches of onions, 21,000 rolls, 9,000 pounds of potatoes and 600 gallons of ice cream were consumed, General Smith reported.

More Foresters arriving for the sessions increase the food consumption. The visiting drill teams eat and sleep at the Pier, where 10,000 cots with bedding have been prepared. Twenty chefs and more than 400 cooks and waiters prepare the food.

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—Welcoming addresses from Mayor William E. Dever of Chicago and Colonel Frank Smith, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, speaking for Governor Len Small, were scheduled to open the twentieth quadrennial meeting of the Modern Woodmen of America here today.

The opening formalities disposed of, the delegates were free to amuse themselves until tomorrow, when the meeting will take up two important pieces of legislation, one of which would wipe out all the order's regulations against liquor and substitute a blunt law declaring any person who deals in liquor or transports it illegible to membership.

The other proposed legislation would authorize the order to issue long term insurance policies in addition to the straight life insurance now allowed members.

Missouri led all other states in representation, 1099 delegates arriving yesterday in a body. Included in the Missouri delegation was a national Woodmen's band consisting of 119 Boy Scouts from Springfield. Two other musical organizations also were present from Missouri.

ACCUSED MAN

Crowe Seeks to Prove Him Lazy and Real "Panhandler"

BULLETIN
Chicago, June 23—(AP)—The defense rested its case at 2:30 p. m. after Shepherd was excused from the witness stand.

The cross examination was concluded in four minutes after the afternoon session was resumed. The prosecutor did not ask a question regarding the illness or death of Billy McClintock, Fairman, Marchand, the letter Shepherd is alleged to have written to Fairman's school, or the school itself.

Chicago, June 23—(AP)—William Darling Shepherd took the witness stand at 11:24 a. m. today to strike the chief blow in his defense of the charges that he used typhoid bacilli to slay his millionaire foster-son, William Nelson McClintock.

In three minutes Shepherd's general denial of each and every accusation against him had been formally entered and Stewart sat down with a remark "take the witness" to the prosecution.

Photographers Busy.

Photographers, officially banned from all Cook County criminal courts, scooted about the court room "shoot" the well composed man in the witness box from all angles.

Mrs. Shepherd, who has been in the court room every day of the five weeks and two days of the trial, sat with composed countenance as her husband offered his testimony. She had indicated last night that she did not wish him to testify.

The tiny court room, crowded to its capacity, hung in breathless silence on every word uttered by the defendant and his attorney.

Every available inch of space was taken up, even twenty five camp chairs being placed in the clerk's space at the right of the official desk occupied by Judge Thomas J. Lynch.

Talked in Low Tone.
Cross examination of the defendant, expected to be one of the most grueling ever made of a witness, was begun in a low voice by Prosecutor Robert E. Crowe, his tone failing to carry past the middle of the court room. In keeping with it, Shepherd dropped his voice, and the majority of the spectators were left to wonder just what was being said.

A crowded room of spectators who had fought for admission on this day of days of the five weeks of the trial strained forward tensely as Shepherd was called. A great mass of a man, wide and stocky of build, curly hair, iron grey and his face chalky white with his prison pallor, Shepherd ambled leisurely to the witness box.

Makes General Denials.
"Did you murder Billy McClintock?" asked William Scott Stewart, Shepherd's chief counsel, after the usual identifying questions.

"I did not," Shepherd replied in a firm, well modulated voice.

The defense attorney took Shepherd through each charge in the indictment of twenty two counts covering the death of McClintock, by poison, germs and an "unknown manner."

In each instance the defendant answered a firm "I did not."

"Never Saw Fairman."
He denied that he ever had seen Charles C. Fairman, his chief accuser, until after he was taken into custody; ever had written a letter to Charles C. Fairman's National University of Sciences regarding a course in bacteriology, or had ever seen John P. Marchand, a representative of Fairman's school.

He denied that he had seen Dr. Amante Rongetti until after his arrest. "You are here charged with the murder of William Nelson McClintock, are you?" asked Stewart after five questions of identification.

"I am," replied Shepherd. "Did you murder McClintock?" "I did not," was the second detailed denial.

"In this indictment, you are charged in various accounts with administering various forms of poison," continued Stewart. "Did you ever give Billy McClintock any poison?" "I did not," was the second detailed denial.

"You are charged with administering to Billy McClintock various death dealing germs. Did you ever give him any germs?" "I never did," Shepherd varied the form of denial.

"You are charged in one of these counts with murdering Billy McClintock in a manner and form unknown to the grand jury. Did you in any manner and form murder Billy McClintock?"

Denials Completed.

"I did not," and denials of charges of the actual murder were completed.

TAX REDUCTIONS
OF $300,000,000 IS
AIM OF PRESIDENT

Tells Government Employees Economy Program Must Continue

BULLETIN
Washington, June 23—(AP)—An administration tax program, to reduce the present tax burden by $300,000,000 has virtually been completed for submission to Congress next fall.

Washington, June 23—(AP)—A promise that he will recommend further reduction of taxes to Congress at the December session was made last night by President Coolidge in an address at the semi-annual budget meeting.

He predicted a surplus of $200,000,000 at the end of the fiscal year June 30, and estimated that the surplus for the coming fiscal year would approximate $200,000,000.

Admitting there was little prospect for several years at least, of cutting government expenditures below three billion dollars annually, Mr. Coolidge laid the outlay for the current fiscal year would total $3,035,000,000, exclusive of money applied to reduction of the public debt and operation of the postal service.

It is his desire, he added, to hold expenditures for the coming year, including the amount applied on debt reduction but excluding the postal service, within $3,375,000,000, or $25,000,000, he said, less than estimated comparable expenditures for this year.

Mr. Coolidge also declared he would attempt to hold estimates for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1926, to $3,080,000,000 exclusive of the postal service. No estimates were given of the amount needed for reducing the debt and operating the postal service.

Must Continue Economy.
The President told his audience, made up of cabinet officials, and departmental executives, that they must continue their efforts to decrease the cost of government. He gave Congress credit for supporting the budget, and declared that while the tax burden had been materially lightened, it "is still with the people."

"Back of the tireless, persistent and drastic campaign for constructive economy in Federal expenditure," declared Mr. Coolidge, "has been the relief of the people of this nation from a great burden of taxation. It has been successful. Taxes have been reduced. The burden of the people has been materially lightened."

"But the reduction has not yet reached the point where taxes have ceased to be a burden. It is to the reaching of this point that our efforts must be directed. The way has been prepared for further tax reduction. This I will recommend to the Congress in the next budget message."

"Economy in the cost of government is inseparable from reduction in taxes. We can not have the latter without the former. From some sources the statement has been made that this continuing drive for economy in federal expenditures is hurting business."

Reductions Help Business.
"It has been unable to determine how reduction in taxes is injurious to business. Each tax reduction has been followed by a revival of business. If there is one thing above all others that will stimulate business it is tax reduction. If the government takes less, private business can have more. If constructive economy in federal expenditures can be assured it will be a stimulation to enterprise and investment."

Reviewing the four years' operation of the budget system, Mr. Coolidge asserted that annual expenditures, which in 1921 totaled $5,116,000,000, had been reduced by $2,041,000,000, while $3,426,000,000 had been looted from the public debt which then aggregated $23,877,000,000. Interest paid in 1921, he said, totaled $1,000,000,000 as against $870,000,000 this year.

"Our sound debt policy," the president continued, "has progressively strengthened the credit of our treasury. Bonds which in 1921 were selling much below par are today selling well above. As the price of our securities goes up, the interest rate which we must pay on new flotations declines."

"This month the Treasury offered a 3 percent one-year certificate on which the subscriptions were nearly four times the amount of the offering of $120,000,000 of decrease in interest payments between 1921 and 1925, part of the saving came because there are

NAVAL ACADEMY CREW CAPTURED ANNUAL REGATTA

Strategy Gave Admirals Victory Over Washington Varsity

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23.—(AP)—The eight-oared crew of the Naval Academy again rules the intercollegiate regatta as the result of the annual regatta on the Hudson, but not by such an overwhelming margin that the "admirals" had anything particular to brag about.

Eight broad-backed, brawny mid-shipmen brought the varsity rowing championship back east last evening by conquering Washington, two time champions, in a thrilling, spectacular four mile duel, but at the finish they were only three quarters of a length ahead and losing distance with every stroke.

The Navy owes its brilliant triumph in the final analysis, more to superior strategy than anything else. It was the sudden spurt of the sailors, an unexpected and daring dash at the three mile mark, that won the race for them. In an odd a bid for supremacy as the picturesque waters of the Hudson have ever seen, the midshipmen, in military language, stole a march on their rivals. They jumped in to a lead of a length and a quarter before Washington realized what was up, a margin which saved the day for the midshipmen.

Behind the Badgers came Pennsylvania, Cornell, Syracuse and Columbia in order.
Washington packed up for home to day with one trophy in her bag, however. The Huskies romped off with the junior varsity honors in the first of the two mile preliminary races, after which Syracuse captured the freshmen event.

Joe Bush of the Browns fanned ten Athletics, allowed nine hits, walked three men and then cut in with two hits, one a homer, and scored two runs.

The game between the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago Cubs was stopped for 13 minutes yesterday by a shower. By the time the twenty or thirty men employed around the park had unfolded the tarpaulin and spread it over the infield, the rain ceased, the canvas was taken off and the game continued.

George Grantham, former Cub, now holding down first base for the Pirates, collected four hits and made a sacrifice in five trips to the plate against the Cardinals. Two of his blows were good for the circuit and one of the others was a double.

STATE PRIES INTO PAST OF ACCUSED MAN

"Did you ever see the witness, John P. Marchand, who says his real name is McMahon, before this inquest started and before you were taken in custody?" asked Stewart.

Shepherd said he had seen him at the coroner's inquest before being taken into custody, that being the first time.

"Did you ever write a letter to the National University of Sciences, or to any other institution, making inquiry concerning a bacteriological course, or any course?" asked the defense attorney.

"I never did," Shepherd replied.

"Did you ever write any letter, either on stationery, in typewriting, or in long hand, to which your name was signed or any name by you on that subject?"

"I never did."

"Did Marchand or any one else ever call upon you in your office concerning any course at the National University of Sciences or any other institution of that type?"

Shepherd denied any conversation such as was testified to by Marchand ever taking place or that there was about his office any letter heads containing the "Stoll & Shepherd" name upon which it was testified the letter to the National University of Sciences was written.

"Did you ever meet Fairman until the time of the inquest in your life time?"

"Never," was the reply.

"Never Discussed Germs"
"Did you ever have any conversation with him concerning germs, or on any other subject matter?"

"Never."

"Did you ever have any transactions or dealings with him in your life?" asked Stewart.

"Never," again replied Shepherd.

"Did you ever meet the witness Rongetti until you were taken in custody?" asked Stewart, concerning Dr. Amant Rongetti, who said Shepherd discussed germs with him.

"Never did I," replied Shepherd.

"Did you ever have any conference or deal with him or have anything to do with him in your life?"

"No," Shepherd replied, and his direct examination was completed.

Cross Examination Begun
Cross examination brought out that Shepherd is "past 49," was born at Anderson, Ind., and was educated in the common schools of Johnson County, Indiana, and the high school at Indianapolis.

"And did you study chemistry?" asked Prosecutor Crowe.

"The high school course," answered the defendant, adding that the latter took a special course under a high school professor.

"And your father ran a drug store, didn't he?" pursued the prosecutor in establishing Shepherd's scientific training.

mobile "merely as a matter of accommodation."

"Did you take care of little Billy?" was the next question.

"While I was at home, at the house, I did," was the reply.

In November of 1908 Shepherd went to Texas at the request of Mrs. McClintock in regard to land she and Billy owned.

Stayed With McClintocks
Negotiation for a position was abandoned, Shepherd replied in answering a question by Crowe, because Mrs. McClintock did not "want you to take the job and have to leave and take your wife along with you."

"The first time you got any employment from Mrs. McClintock was at the time she employed you to go to Texas," asked Crowe.

"As I recall," answered Shepherd, "The duties were very many," as remarked on by Shepherd in a probate court hearing were termed "friendly duties."

Spanking Was One Duty
One of Shepherd's duties, according to the old testimony, was to spank Billy.

"You drove her around in the automobile?"

"Yes," replied Shepherd. "My time was taken up, whatever she wanted me to do, whatever it might be, she simply made the proposition to me to keep me, not because she wanted me to stay so much, but she wanted my wife with her, and this work was simply to keep me from taking another position until I found another situation."

An objection was sustained after Shepherd's long statement of his relations with Mrs. McClintock, "not because it is objectionable, except on the ground that it is not cross examination and is not impeachment."

Shepherd denied that he had a medicine chest in his room at the McClintocks, although he took a small medicine cabinet to Texas.

At the noon recess, no detail of the alleged crime had been reached.

Judge Olson Displeased
Judge Harry Olson, Chief Justice of the Municipal Court, and the chief figure in the investigation of McClintock's death and Shepherd's indictment, expressed keen disapproval of the state's conduct of the case against Shepherd today.

The defendant's various employments during 1911 and 1912 were mentioned and then the prosecutor asked:

"During that period after Mrs. McClintock died you didn't pay any board or room rent?"

"No," admitted Shepherd.

"Your board and room were furnished by the McClintock estate?"

"It was," replied Shepherd.

"From the time Mrs. McClintock died until the time you were taken into custody you received free lodging and board from the McClintock estate," asked Crowe.

An objection was sustained and a rehearsed question brought "no" as a response.

Drew Up Billy's Will
"You drew up Billy's will, did you not?" Shepherd was asked and replied in the affirmative, adding he drew it from a memorandum sent by the youth.

"As a lawyer, do you consider it good practice for a person who occupies a fiduciary relation to a boy to act as his attorney and draft a will in which you are the principal beneficiary?" asked the state's attorney.

"I don't," replied Shepherd.

"And it is unethical?"

"To some extent, yes."

Arrangements for Billy's marriage to Miss Isabelle Pope were the subject of the next dozen questions.

His Estate Was Small
Shepherd admitted that at that time his estate consisted principally of two small parcels of land which produced no income, and his wife owned a farm in Kansas, some mortgages and some stock.

Finlay Quits as Head of Northwestern Lines
New York, June 23.—(AP)—William H. Finley today resigned as president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railway Company and Fred W. Sargent, heretofore vice president and general counsel, was elected president to succeed him. At the same time Marvin Hughtit, veteran chairman of the Northwestern and also of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha Railway, resigned from both offices.

Ill health was given as the reason for Mr. Finley's resignation as president. To some extent the same motive influenced Mr. Hughtit, who was nearing his 81st birthday anniversary, to relinquish his executive responsibilities. DOLLAR A WEEK—

(By Hal Cochran.)
"Gimme a pencil, Dad—listen to this, here is a plan where we can't go amiss. Gee, lemme see, we pay five dollars down, and then, once a week, the collector comes 'round."

"Isn't that easy? Why, easy as pie! Aw, come on, Dad, let's just give it a try. Think of the help. Do you know what I mean? That sort of plan buys a washin' machine."

"All you must do is to enter the store, and hand 'em five dollars—and mebbe, what's more, sign up some sort of a promise or two—but shucks, what's a dollar a week, Dad, to you?"
"I understand ya, Mom. I ought to know. That's where a lot of my dollar bills go. Sounds right attractive, and likely to please, but dollars, ya know, never grow upon trees."

"Member your vacuum, your lamp and your rug? Member when you and I both had the bug? Member the dishes, and some of your clothes? Listen, here, Mom, I'm still payin' for those."

CYNTHIA GRAY SAYS—
Many and many an old maid is the direct and unhappy result of the "steady company" institution. And there is no more unfair arrangement on earth than this one between a man and a woman.

"I love you," says the man, "and so I want you all to myself. I want no other man to call on you, to take you to parties or movies, or to make love to you."

Very often the girl in the case is greatly flattered by this proposal. Time and bitter experience have yet to teach her that when a man loves a girl he wants her for his wife. . . . not for his "steady company."

She has yet to find out that the man who asks a girl to let him make love to her without asking her to marry him, is a "dog in the manger." The plain fact is that he doesn't want her, himself, and he doesn't want anyone else to have her. . . . until he has fallen in love with somebody else!

A girl plays a waiting game in love. She cannot go out to woo the Prince Charming of her choice, as a man can. She has to wait until someone comes along and falls in love with her.

And at the end of one love affair, she has to go on waiting for the next one to begin. Whereas a man can "break off" with Mary at a Saturday night dance, and ask Sally to go to Sunday evening service with him, 24 hours later!

Unfair! Of course, it is. But under present conditions, most of the man-made rules of this world are unfair to women. The one safe institution for women is marriage. . . . with its forerunner, the formal engagement.

And a man who is sincerely in love will offer nothing less than this to the woman of his choice.

"Man," remarked a long-dead sage, "proposes, and woman disposes." The sensible girl will immediately dispose of the chap who proposes "steady company" to her. If his love is worth anything, it is worth the dignity of an engagement, at the very, very least!

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—
Keep Roots Wet.
Keep parsley in a glass of water with only the roots wet.

Dessert of Fruit.
In hot weather a fruit salad or fresh fruits is preferable to pastry or pudding for dessert.

Pudding Material.
Dry bread may be used for puddings by buttering it, cutting it in small squares and arranging it in layers between fruit and baking with a custard poured over all.

Salt Water Bath.
Soak cabbage in cold salt water for half an hour before you shred it for salad.

ATTENDS GRADUATION OF NIECES IN CHICAGO—

Miss Agnes Prindaville is spending the week in Chicago, where she attended the graduation exercises at the Visitation High school, her nieces the Misses Kathryn, Eleanor and Loretta, being members of the graduation class. Miss Kathryn finishing the classical course, Misses Eleanor and Loretta the Commercial course.

DINNER GUEST FROM DESPLAINES AT BUEHLER'S—
Lee Bjorlund of Desplaines was entertained at dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Buehler.

Menus for Family

Tested by SISTER MARY.

Breakfast—
Orange juice, cereal, thin cream, crisp broiled bacon and toast sandwiches, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—
Cheese fondue, brown bread and butter sandwiches, stuffed tomato salad, ginger bread, milk, tea.

Dinner—
Vegetable and nut loaf, scalloped potatoes, endive salad, caramel custard, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.
A leaf or two of crisp lettuce added much to the bacon sandwiches suggested for breakfast. The lettuce is healthy and looks cool.

If, as soon as the vegetables come from the market, the lettuce is put into a large pan of water and allowed to stand for half an hour, then each leaf washed under running water and shaken to remove the water, put into a pan or container with a tight-fitting cover and finally placed in the refrigerator, there is no mad rushing at the last minute to wash and dry lettuce for a special purpose.

Vegetable and Nut Loaf.
Three-fourth cup dried bread crumbs, 1 cup nut pulp, one-fourth cup finely chopped nut meats, 1 egg, 4 tablespoons melted butter, milk to make moist, 1 tablespoon sugar, one scant teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Mix dry ingredients and seasoning. Add melted butter and egg slightly beaten. Stir in milk, about three-fourths cup, and turn into a brick-shaped pan lined with waxed paper. Cover with buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes. Rub canned or cooked fresh peas through a sieve to make the pea pulp. There should be 1 cup after sifting. Palmyra Young Lady Bride of Sterlingite

Sterling—Miss Hermine Behrends, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Behrends of Palmyra became the bride of Russell Rank, son of Mrs. Fred McDermott of Sterling, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The ceremony was solemnized in the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran church. Rev. E. C. Harris officiating and using the single ring service. Miss Jean Agnew and Glen Rich, both intimate friends of the bride and groom, attended them.

Newlyweds to Visit Dixon on Honeymoon

Harold, son of Mrs. W. D. Drew of this city, was married to Miss Ethel Esther Bycraft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Bycraft, Detroit, Mich., Thursday, June 18th, at the home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was performed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The united people were united in marriage by Rev. Ralph Crissman, pastor of the Presbyterian church, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city.

Mr. Drew is well known here, having lived here nearly all of his life. He is a graduate of the south side high school, and later attended the University of Illinois. He served overseas during the late war as an Ensign in the United States Navy. He is now a successful bond salesman in Detroit, while his bride is one of the popular young women of Detroit.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Howard Davidson, a life long friend of the bride, and the bridegroom was attended by Louis Bycraft, brother of the bride. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The bride was attired in turquoise blue, beaded and purchased in Paris. She carried a beautiful bouquet. The matron of honor wore a Philippine hand-made organdy over orchid silk, with a bouquet to match.

The flowers were yellow and white roses, and the young people stood beneath a bell of white roses during the ceremony.

Lahengren's wedding march was played by Mrs. John Krug, sister of the groom.

The ceremony was very simply and attended by only the immediate relatives. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served, after which the young couple left Detroit for a two weeks' auto trip to Chicago, Milwaukee, The Delta and Dixon. They will arrive here sometime this week.

Mr. W. D. Drew and Mr. and Mrs. John Krug from Dixon, and Miss Emma Drew, Chicago, attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Drew will reside in Detroit.

Miss Ferne Manning Married in Chicago

Miss Ferne G. Manning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Manning of this city, and Chester A. Waldmann of Chicago were married at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 20, at the Christ English Lutheran church in Chicago, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. H. Meyer, pastor of that church. The couple were attended by Miss Era Manning of Dixon, sister of the bride, and William Lange of Chicago, cousin of the bridegroom.

The bride was attired in a white georgette ensemble suit with hat and slippers to match and wore a corsage of lilacs of the valley. The maid of honor wore a yellow crepe de chine dress with black hat and slippers and a corsage of white sweet peas.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Waldmann of Rogers Park, Chicago. He is a graduate of Nicholas Senn high school, later attending Northwestern University and is now an insurance adjuster with the firm of Hall, Whitaker & Jackson.

The affair was enjoyed by all and will long be a pleasant memory. The guests were: Father, Foley, George Green and family, Mrs. Julia Green and son, John, Jas. Elaborate and Festive

For the past season we have been working toward a more elaborate and sophisticated type of evening frock, such as this one. It is of white satin in embroidered with pearls and gold beads. A shoulder bow of satin is caught in the center with a white camellia and the long ends give the appearance of a sleeve drapery.

25th Anniversary of Wedding Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. William Green of Monroe avenue, celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Sunday with a sumptuous four-course supper. In the dining room were two large tables, which were decorated with roses and garden flowers, each having a huge bridal cake as the centerpiece. Here 55 guests were seated, many of them being present at the wedding 25 years ago.

At the finale of the supper came a speech by Rev. Michael Foley, who in behalf of the guests assembled presented Mr. and Mrs. Green with a chest of silver. Father Foley's talk took the form of a reminiscence of the past and the great pleasure to him to be present at this anniversary.

Girl Scouts in Camp, Tell Doings of Interest There

During the balance of the camp period of the Girl Scouts, their daily camp log will appear in the Telegraph for those who are interested in the camp activities. These reports are written by the girls themselves. May we also add that any parcels or mail left at the Y. M. C. A. before 10 a. m. will reach the girls that day. Following is the camp log for Friday, June 19, and Saturday, June 20.

The two Girl Scout Troops of Dixon were quite excited this morning about 9 o'clock as they collected at the "Y" to go to the Wahwahtaise Camp at Hovey Springs.

They went to the camp in the cars of some Dixon people who kindly gave up part of the morning for that purpose.

Soon after we arrived at the camp the DeKalb girls came.

We found the camp an enjoyable place. The sleeping quarters is a tent reminding us of a circus tent (menagerie included). The flaps of the dining tent flapped in the breeze.

The "Y" boys were here to tell us about the wonderful time they had had the last ten days.

The counselors are very likeable ones.

Miss Sell, the camp director has already shown her ability as such by getting the things under way and in working order so quickly.

I'm sure we will all like the DeKalb counselors who are coming this evening.

If anybody is missing in the morning we would suggest that a searching party be told to investigate the sleeping bags. They likely are lost in there for they can't very easily get out.

Wanted—A new name for the camp dog, formerly known as "Spare Ribs." The Dixon Scouts are very happy to have the DeKalb Scouts with them.

And that's that till tomorrow.

Elizabeth Rhodes, Patrol Leader VII.

Camp Log for June 20.
Last evening Miss Sell's seven-ring circus gave a complete performance. It lasted from 9 o'clock until 12, and from 2 o'clock till 6. Several people disapproved very much of the circus. Most of it was performed by the menagerie.

Miss Todd, our swimming instructor, arrived last evening after supper. Many of us know her from last year.

We all like Miss Rutledge, the DeKalb counselor, very well.

Newsp Notes.
Many of the girls got cold last night and doubled up.

We had one of the original seven sleepers with us this afternoon in the form of Frances Houston. We aren't sure she is awake yet.

Although our precious Buick refused to run last night, it condescended to go today. Much to our delight.

This afternoon part of the Scouts went on a nature hike. On the way across the creek Mary Ellen saw our first snake. Later two other snakes were seen down by the bridge.

A cry just went up of "Noodles for supper." If they are as good as the other things we have had they will be delicious. We are also going to have doughnuts.

No one has reported to have been homesick yet.

REPRESENTATION WITHOUT TAXATION.

Chicago newspapers have worked themselves into a frenzy over the refusal of the Illinois legislature to increase Cook county's representation in the general assembly. Cook county now has one-third of the members of the legislature. Its population in 1920 was 3,053,017; that of the rest of the state 3,432,263. At the present time Cook county probably contains just about half the population of the state. Chicago newspapers contend that it should have half or nearly half the members of legislature. The sensible suggestion that Chicago be permanently limited to about one-third of the representatives in one house and given proportionate representation in the other, meets with a cold response in Cook county. This plan is in use in other states containing large cities. It prevents either city or state from imposing hardships on the other. It is a sensible solution of the problem. It is not acceptable to Chicago newspapers, however, and they are having a great deal to say about "taxation without representation." Let us see how much truth there is in that statement.

Cook county registered 287,135 automobiles with the secretary of state in 1923. Cook county assessors listed only 18,797 of these on the tax books. The rest of the state registered 559,870 cars; 369,374 of which were discovered by the assessors. Six per cent of Cook county's automobiles paid a personal property tax, as compared to 66 per cent of those down state. On this showing, if representation is to be based on taxation, Cook county is entitled to one-eleventh of the 204 members of the legislature.

On April 1, 1923 (the assessment date) there was $19,873,240 worth of grain in storage in Chicago. The total full value of all grain assessed in Cook county that year was $427,592—a trifle over two per cent of the value of grain in Chicago's terminal elevators alone. Even the most radical downstate has failed to suggest cutting Cook county's representation down to two per cent.

Cook county, according to its assessors, has only one watch or clock to each 331 people, the rest of the state has one to each 19 people. Cook county, again on the authority of its assessors, has only one piano to each 270 people, and one sewing machine to each 359 people. Downstate has a piano for each 19 people and a sewing machine for each 16 people. The wonder is that the people of Cook county can keep clothes on their backs and music in their souls with such meager equipment. Or is it possible that the assessors of that county, who failed to find 30 million bushels of grain in Chicago's terminal elevators, were similarly at fault in finding pianos and sewing machines?

Cook county manufacturers, again quoting the assessors, had $7,702,542 (full assessed value) invested in tools and machinery in 1923, yet the articles produced with those tools were valued at only $932,754. Downstate manufacturers are apparently much more efficient. With machinery equipment valued at $23,186,034 they produced $31,139,418 worth of manufactured products.

Notwithstanding its population and its wealth, Cook county is in a sad state on the assessor's books.

Money and credits of Chicago banks for 1923 (full assessed value) amounted to only $8,99,338; those of the rest of the state $36,026,250. Chicago citizens had money and credits of only $9,479,512, according to the assessors, while the people of the rest of the state had $143,046,616—15 times as much. Chicago people listed only $1,808,532 worth of bonds and stocks, while those of the rest of Illinois admitted the ownership of $11,879,500.

Perhaps we should take up a collection for the benefit of the people of Chicago, who, if the figures of their assessors are correct, seldom see a piano or a sewing machine, have only one timepiece for each 331 people, and are almost without money. Then again, it might be better to loan them some of our downstate assessors.

Taxation without representation? Chicago comes nearer to having representation without taxation.—Prairie Farmer.

UNIVERSITIES.

You heard quite a bit of talk, a year or so back, about the "redness" of many of our colleges and universities.

If you would believe all you heard, you would become convinced that a college diploma was a passport to Moscow, and that Lenin and Trotsky ranked ahead of Washington and Lincoln in our academic halls.

But a visit to most any college or university commencement ought to have been enough to explode this idea once and for all.

What is on the undergraduate's mind?

Well, football and track and baseball and so on occupy a large share of his attention. Then there are the girls and shows and dances and things like that. Maybe, at times, even his studies come in for a little notice.

But Moscow, and communism? Forget it! The average college student cares less about them than about what's on the other side of the moon.

The politicians don't give us much rest. With the primary election nearly a year away we see the beginning of another campaign among candidates for United States senator. The term of Senator McKinley is next to expire.

The bill for reapportionment of the state of Illinois for purposes of election of senators and representatives in the general assembly is dead. Nothing further will be attempted at this session of the legislature.

The menace of this newest Bryanism is not to science or education. It is to religion.

Science is safe, and education will take care of itself.

But organized religion could not hold its place in modern life if it proclaimed that acceptance of it involves repudiation or everything else that modern man has learned.

It would retreat to the intellectual backwaters, where knowledge has not penetrated, and the educated would be left to find satisfaction of the religious instinct outside the church, if at all.

The forces of reaction, even if they can not monopolize religion, might conceivably seize custody of its traditional institutions and established equipment.

WAGING FIGHT FOR SAKE OF CHURCH

This is doubtless the reason why so many clergymen are springing to the defense of knowledge assailed in the ostensible name of religion.

They may be more interested than other citizens in schools and laboratories, but the are vitally concerned for the church.

They might, for the sake of peace, keep silent while fundamentalism remained a mere faction, quietly cherishing its ignorance. But when it becomes militant, demanding the ejection of all others, there is nothing to do but resist or surrender.

For the survival of the church, the enlightened clergy are resisting.

LIKE IT OR NOT, WE LIVE BY SCIENCE

This age is committed irrevocably to science.

Physically, we live by science. A modern city would starve in a week, or probably burn up in a day, if deprived of magic which our ancestors, citing Moses, would have persecuted as witchcraft.

Most of us personally are now alive by virtue of medical science. Intellectually, science guides us. The human mind has not improved appreciably for ages, but science makes its thinking a million-fold more effective.

Science is rationalizing commerce and finance, and is on the way to outlaw poverty and war.

Spiritually, it has stretched our vision across ten billion stars and into the secrets of the atom. No mind has glimpsed that vision could be much inspired by a conception of God any less infinite. They are not reactionaries who think all this progress an evil, no crusade of theirs can impose the limitations of the past on the knowledge of the present.

It might, at most segregate those unfamiliar with that knowledge, to live in our time the mental life of another age.

THE KING AND HIS DAUGHTERS

"Which of you loves me best?"

"This story is going to be about a king and his three daughters," said Mi O' Mi, the Story Teller, to the Twins.

"Is it funny or sad," asked Niek, who hoped it might be another like 'John Gilpin'.

"Well," said Mi O' Mi, "It's sort of sad, I'm afraid. But all stories can't be gay. It's about King Lear."

"This old king did a foolish thing one day, as kings in olden times always seemed to be doing.

"He called his three children to him, all daughters, and said, 'I'm getting old and all my lands and riches do not mean as much to me as your love. Which of you loves me the best?'"

"Began, the oldest daughter tossed her beautiful head proudly and said quickly, 'To make you happy I should gladly give my blood.'"

The old king was greatly pleased at this, you may be sure. "Ah, there's a daughter to be proud of!" he cried. Then he turned to Goneril, his second daughter. Goneril was still more beautiful than Regan, her older sister. "I, too, father, would undertake any hardship to save you a moment's worry," said she. "I shall serve Your Highness night and day with diligence and love."

"King Lear was so delighted that he cried out, 'You glad my soul, daughter, and stroked her fair curls.

"Then he turned to Cordelia, his youngest daughter, and the most beautiful of all. "And now sayst thou, my youngest girl, how is they love allayed?" he asked.

"What did Cordelia say?" asked Nancy.

"What do you suppose?" declared Mi O' Mi. "She said simply, 'My love, which I owe to you, shall be the duty of a child.'"

"What?" cried the king. "Would you not show more love than your ing a text-book to use in the Tennessee schools which "does not teach evolution."

The book, in fact does teach evolution, though apparently in a cowardly way. It says, "It is futile, therefore, to look for the primitive stock of the human species in any existing animal."

This is, of course, exactly what Darwin himself said.

No "existing" animal—that is, no species now alive—is the "primitive stock" of the human species, or of any other.

All existing animals, including man, were preceded by other species which no longer exist. All the "primitive stock" became extinct long ago. The present species were either descended from them, or were separately created after them and unrelated to them.

If man was created unrelatedly, his creator lacked the resourcefulness to hang his viscera from the ends suitable to his upright habit, and hung them, instead, by adapting imperfectly the exact attachments of his quadruped predecessors.

Untold human ills are the consequences from which our quadruped neighbors are exempt.

Intelligent readers of this boasted Tennessee book will know that this is what is meant. Unintelligent school boards and prosecuting attorneys are supposed not to find it out.

By the way, I saw Mr. Sartoris the other day and he asked very particularly about you. He told me that he had met many brainy women and many beautiful ones, but he never remembered meeting before, an unusually brilliant mind such as yours.

He said, "If I should put such a woman in one of my stories, everyone would believe she was too good to be true."

CHAPTER XIII—Continued

Still half-awake, and unable to imagine what it all might mean, I found myself hurrying madly after him through the wood, a rifle under each arm and a pile of various stores in my hands. He dodged in and out through the thickest of the scrub until he came to a dense clump of brushwood. Into this he rushed, regardless of thorns, and threw himself into the heart of it, pulling me down by his side.

"There!" he panted. "I think we are safe here. They'll make for the camp as sure as fate. It will be their first idea. But this should puzzle 'em."

"What is it all?" I asked, when I had got my breath. "Where are the professors? and who is it that is after us?"

"The ape-men," he cried. "My God, what brutes! Don't raise your voice, for they have long ears—sharp ears, too, but no power of scent, so far as I could judge, so I don't think they can sniff us out. Where have you been, young fellow? You were well out of it."

In a few sentences I whispered what I had done.

"Pretty bad," said he, when he had heard of the dinosaur and the pit. "It isn't quite the place for a rest cure. What? But I had no idea what its possibilities were until these devils got hold of us. The man-eatin' Papuans had me once, but they are Chesterfields compared to this crowd."

"How did it happen?" I asked. "It was in the early mornin'. Our learned friends were just stirrin'. Hadn't even begun to argue yet. Suddenly it rained aces. They came down as thick as apples out of a tree. They had been assemblin' in the dark, I suppose, until that great tree over our heads was heavy with them. I shot one of them through the belly, but before we knew where we were they had us spread-eagled on our backs. I call them apes, but they carried sticks and stones in their hands and jabbered back to each other, and ended up by tryin' our hands with creeps, so they are ahead of any beast that I have seen in my wanderin'."

"Ape-men—that's what they are—Missin' Links, and I wish they had stayed missin'." They carried off their wounded comrade—he was bleedin' like a pig—and then they sat around us, and if ever I saw frozen murder it was in their faces. They were big fellows, as big as a man and a deal stronger. Curious glassy gray eyes they have, and red tails, and they just sat and the thing was complete. Summerlee was a bit hysterical, and he laughed till he cried. The ape-men laughed, too—or at least they put up the devil of a cacklin'—and they set to work to drag us off through the forest. They wouldn't touch the guns and things—thought them dangerous. I expect—but they carried away all our loose food. Summerlee and I got some rough handlin' on the way—their skin and my clothes to prove it—for they took us a bee-line through the brambles, and their own hides are like leather. But Challenger was all right. Four of them carried him shoulder high, and he went like a Roman emperor. What's that?"

It was a strange clicking noise in the distance not unlike castanets.

"There they go!" said my companion, slipping cartridges into the second double-barreled "Expres." "Load them all up, young fellow, my lad, for we're not going to be taken alive, and don't you think it! That's the row they make when they are excited. By George! they'll have something to excite them if they put us up. The 'Last Stand of the Grays' won't be in it. With their rifles grasped in their stiffened hands, 'mid a ring of the dead and dyin', as some fathead sings. Can you hear them now?"

"Very far away."

"That little lot will do no good, but I expect their search parties are all over the wood. Well, I was telling you my tale of woe. They got us soon to this town of theirs—about a thousand huts of branches and leaves in a great grove of trees near the edge of the cliff. It's three or four miles from here. The filthy beasts fingered me all over, and I feel as if I should never be clean again. They tied us up—the fellow who handled me could tie like a boss—and there we lay with our toes up, beneath a tree, while a great brute stood guard over us with a club in his hand. When I say 'we' I mean Summerlee and myself. Old Challenger was up a tree, eatin' pines and havin' the time of his life. I'm bound to say that he managed to get some fruit to us, and with his own hands he loosened our bonds. If you'd seen him sitting up in that tree hobnobbin' with his twin brother—and singin' in that rollin' bass of his, 'Ring out, wild bells,' 'cause music of any kind seemed to put 'em in a good humor, you'd have smiled, but we weren't in much mood for laughin', as you can guess. They were inclined, within limits, to let him do what he liked, but they drew the line pretty sharply at us.

I found myself hurrying madly through the wood.

gloated and gloated. Challenger is no chicken, but even he was cowed. He managed to struggle to his feet, and yelled out at them to have done with it and get it over. I think he had gone a bit off his head at the suddenness of it for he raged and cursed at them like a lunatic. If they had been a row of his favorite Pressmen he could not have slanged them worse."

"Well, what did they do?" I was enthralled by the strange story which my companion was whispering into my ear, while all the time his keen eyes were shooting in every direction and his hand grasping his cocked rifle.

"I thought it was the end of us, but instead of that it started them on a new line. They all jabbered and chattered together. Then one of them stood out beside Challenger. You'll smile, young fellow, but 'pon my word they might have been kinsmen. I couldn't have believed it if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes. This old ape-man—he was their chief—was a sort of red Challenger, with every one of our friend's beauty points, only just a trifle more so. He had the short body, the big shoulders, the round chest, no neck, a great ruddy frill of a beard, the tufted eyebrows, the 'What do you want, damn you!' look about the eyes, and the whole catalogue. When the ape-man stood by Challenger and put his paw on his shoulder, it was a mighty consolation to us all to know that you were runnin' loose and had the archives in your keepin'."

"Well, now, young fellow, I'll tell you what will surprise you. You say you saw signs of men, and fires, traps, and the like. Well, we have seen the natives themselves. Poor devils they were, down-faced little chaps, and had enough to make them so. It seems that the humans hold one side of this plateau—over yonder, where you saw the caves—and the ape-men hold this side, and there is bloody war between them all the time. That's the situation, so far as I could follow it. Well, yesterday the ape-men got hold of a dozen of the humans and brought them in as prisoners. You never heard such a jabberin' and shriekin' in your life. The men were little red fellows, and had been bitten and clawed so that they could hardly walk. The ape-men put two of them to death there and then—fairly pulled the arm off one of them—it was perfectly beastly. Plucky little chaps they are, and hardly gave a squeak. But it turned us absolutely sick. Summerlee fainted, and even Challenger fainted as much as he could stand. I think they have cleared, don't you?"

We listened intently, but nothing save the calling of the birds broke the deep peace of the forest.

Dixon, Ill., May 27, 1925.

Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors, Lee County, Ill.

Gentlemen:

This is to notify you that the audit of the office of Recorder and Auditor of the County has been completed and the schedules and exhibits are presented herewith.

Mr. E. S. Rosecrans and his assistants were very congenial and co-operative giving information and assistance wherever possible thus materially reducing the time necessary to give a careful and accurate audit.

The scope of this audit consisted of the verification of his fiscal reports as presented to you previously for the period, Dec. 1st, 1922 to Dec. 1st, 1924, and noting all errors and omissions as found.

The omission of Miscellaneous Fees as Clerk of $96.05 from the report of Nov. 30th, 1923, was an error as a space was provided on the original report for said fees, and the amount was not filled in. Mr. Rosecrans at once advised the committee of this error, and the County Treasurer taking his receipt therefor, pasting same on report of above date, and I used receipt as my authority to show all money accounted for on my report.

I have also a report of a deduction subject to your recommendation, and in the course of the audit I made suggestions of cash book and check fee ledger which Mr. Rosecrans is following and I am sure you will ratify.

No examination of the bills or orders were made further than to verify their allowance by the board for the corresponding amounts.

Mr. Rosecrans endeavors to operate his office in an accurate and careful manner.

Yours very truly,

Olaf V. Rees, May 27, 1925.

Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors, Lee County, Ill.

Dixon, Ill., May 27, 1925.

Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors, Lee County, Ill.

Gentlemen:

This is to notify you that the audit of the office of Recorder and Auditor of the County has been completed and the schedules and exhibits are presented herewith.

Mr. E. S. Rosecrans and his assistants were very congenial and co-operative giving information and assistance wherever possible thus materially reducing the time necessary to give a careful and accurate audit.

The scope of this audit consisted of the verification of his fiscal reports as presented to you previously for the period, Dec. 1st, 1922 to Dec. 1st, 1924, and noting all errors and omissions as found.

The omission of Miscellaneous Fees as Clerk of $96.05 from the report of Nov. 30th, 1923, was an error as a space was provided on the original report for said fees, and the amount was not filled in. Mr. Rosecrans at once advised the committee of this error, and the County Treasurer taking his receipt therefor, pasting same on report of above date, and I used receipt as my authority to show all money accounted for on my report.

I have also a report of a deduction subject to your recommendation, and in the course of the audit I made suggestions of cash book and check fee ledger which Mr. Rosecrans is following and I am sure you will ratify.

No examination of the bills or orders were made further than to verify their allowance by the board for the corresponding amounts.

Mr. Rosecrans endeavors to operate his office in an accurate and careful manner.

Yours very truly,

Olaf V. Rees, May 27, 1925.

Honorable Chairman and Board of Supervisors, Lee County, Ill.

Thereupon on motion of Supervisor Avery, seconded by Supervisor Richardson, the said report and recommendations therein are concurred in by the board.

The Fees and Salaries committee present their report recommending the allowance of the following claims, and upon motion of Supervisor Buckalo, seconded by Supervisor Delhotel, the said report is approved by the board and the clerk is directed to issue orders as follows:

F. Shaw Printing Company, to be published in the Dixon Evening Telegraph, said minutes to be printed in 7 point type and at a rate of $22 per inch.

Carl C. Straw,
Frank Giessner,
C. C. Buckaloo,
Ira Junk.

Members of the Printing Committee, seconded by Supervisor Burhenn, said report is accepted and the recommendations therein are concurred in by the Board.

The Board, by the Printing Committee, presents the following report and recommendation which is in the words and figures as follows:

Report of Bovine T. B. Committee

Mr. Chairman, Members of Lee County Board of Supervisors: Your committee on Bovine T. B. would beg to report the county veterinarian contract expires July 1, 1925. We therefore recommend that Dr. H. C. Barth be re-employed at a salary of forty-one hundred dollars ($4100.00) for the next year.

E. L. Lott,
G. P. Finch,
C. A. Knetsch.

Bovine T. B. Committee

Thereupon Supervisor Clayton moved that said report and the recommendations therein be approved and concurred in by the Board, which motion was duly seconded by Supervisor Fielding, and the matter now coming on for consideration and a vote of the Board and a roll call being asked for, the clerk proceeded to call the roll and the result of said vote was as follows, to-wit:

Those voting aye: Supervisors Richardson, Finch, Hart, Lott, Junk, Clayton, Fielding, Straw, Delhotel, Edlen, and Knetsch—11.

Those voting nay: Supervisors Burhenn, Banks, Leivan, Sprout, Emmitt, Avery, Dysart, Buckaloo, Henert, Giessner, and Wolf—11. The said vote being tie, the chairman voted aye and declared the motion carried.

The Road & Bridge Committee present their report on the Hoffman, Knight and Phillips Bridges, which said report is in the words and figures following:

Payment of Partial Estimates on the Hoffman, Knight and Phillips Bridges

Whereas the counties of Lee and Bureau are jointly building 2 bridges (the Hoffman and Knight) and repairing another (the Phillips) all located on or near the county line, and on the south boundary of Hamilton township, the contractor for said work being F. M. Johnson of Dixon, Illinois and

Whereas, under the law the contractor will be entitled to partial payments as said work progresses, now be it

Resolved, that upon receipt of partial estimates, duly made out and signed by the County Supt. of Highways of the two counties, payment may be made by Lee County for its proper share of said estimates, upon approval of the Lee County Road and Bridge Committee.

And the County Clerk is hereby directed to issue a check for said amount upon the County Treasurer in favor of said contractor.

H. A. Knetsch,
T. W. Clayton,
G. P. Finch,
W. F. Avery,
W. F. Burhenn.

Thereupon on motion of Supervisor Dysart, seconded by Supervisor Giessner, the said report is approved by the Board and the clerk is directed to issue orders as recommended in said report.

The Road and Bridge Committee also present their report as to the Fagan, Leonard and Durr Bridges which said report and recommendation is in the words and figures as follows:

Report and Estimate No. One Fagan, Leonard and Durr Bridges Co. Aid Work, Town of Harmon

John M. Powers, Contractor

The undersigned would hereby make report No. 1 on the construction of the Fagan, Leonard and Durr bridges, Town of Harmon being County Aid Work authorized by your Board at the September meeting of same 1924.

The work was duly advertised for letting Feb. 14, 1925 John M. Powers of Sterling, Ill. was lowest of 6 bidders and was awarded the contract for the 3 bridges at the prices he had bid, which were:

Fagan Bridge $1265
Leonard Bridge 1311
Durr Bridge 1035

Total $3611

Mr. Powers' bid included driving the piling, the material of same to be supplied by the county.

The work of the Durr and Leonard bridges is now practically completed. The Fagan bridge is in the process of construction. Mr. Powers asks for an estimate and partial payment. The undersigned would recommend payment as follows:

Contract price of Leonard bridge $1311.00
Contract price of Durr bridge, 1035.00
1 new pile supplied 9 ft. x 8 in. 6.00
Hauling piling from Bauer Res. 4.50

As the foregoing bridge work is done by county aid, and such work is paid for equally by the county and the town, we find that the payment of $2356.50 should be made one-half by Lee county and one-half by the town of Harmon, of $1178.25 each.

L. B. Neighbour.

We hereby approve the foregoing report and recommendation as to the payment.

The Road & Bridge Committee G. P. Finch, Local Member Dixon, Ill., June 11, 1925.

Lee County Board of Supervisors: Gentlemen:

We the Road & Bridge Committee have examined the foregoing report on the Leonard, Fagan and Durr bridges and find it correct and

We therefore recommend the county clerk be directed to issue an order on the County Treasurer, favor of John M. Powers, for the following amount of $1178.25.

Respectfully submitted, H. A. Knetsch,
G. P. Finch,
T. W. Clayton,
W. F. Avery,
W. F. Burhenn.

Lee Co. Road & Bridge Com.

Thereupon on motion of Supervisor Richardson, seconded by Supervisor Leivan, the said report is approved and the recommendations therein are concurred in by the Board and the Clerk is directed to issue an order as follows:

To John M. Powers $1178.25

The Road & Bridge Committee also present their report as to the Wagner

Bridge, which said report is in the words and figures as follows:

ESTIMATE AND FINAL REPORT WAGNER BRIDGE TOWN OF ASHTON REPAIRED BY COUNTY AID.

STEPHAN & HEAGY, Contractors.

Lee Co. Board of Supervisors, Gentlemen:

The undersigned would hereby make Final Report on the Wagner Bridge, Repair, Town of Ashton, authorized at your meeting of Sept. 1924, as County Aid Work.

The work was in substance, pointing out and repairing the walls, which were well worth saving, and putting on same an I-Beam superstructure with concrete floor.

After due advertisement the above named work was at a letting held Nov. 14, 1924, let to Stephan and Heagy, lowest of 2 bidding parties, at their bid of $1275.00.

The work is now satisfactorily completed. By direction of the Co. Supt. of Highways, the Dirt Guards were 6 inches thick instead of 4 inches as was first computed, making 1-4 yd. of concrete extra. As this was troublesome work, I recommend that it be allowed for at the rate of $39.00 per yd.

I find the sum due Messrs. Stephan and Heagy, to be as follows:

Work as per contract $1275.00
Additional concrete 7.50

The advertising bill was $7.50 which County has already paid. We therefore find the cost of the work to have been as follows:

Stephan & Heagy construction $1282.50
Dixon Telegraph ad. 7.50

Total $1290.00

Under the law for County Aid, County and town pay equally. We therefore find that Lee Co. and the Town of Ashton should each pay:

1-2 the bill of Stephan & Heagy $645.25
1-2 the bill of Dixon Telegraph 3.90

As the County has already paid the advertising in full, the Town of Ashton should pay its share of the advertising bill of $3.90 to Lee County.

Respectfully,
L. B. Neighbour,
Lee Co. Supt. Highways.

L.B.N.—G.P.

We hereby approve the above report and recommendation of payment.

The Road & Bridge Com.
By, W. F. Burhenn,
Local Member.
Dixon, Ill., June 11, 1925

Lee County Board of Supervisors: Gentlemen:

We the Road and Bridge Committee have examined the foregoing on the Wagner Bridge and find it correct and recommend that the County Clerk be instructed to issue the following order as Lee County's share of this construction.

Stephan & Heagy $645.25
Less 1-2 amt. paid to Dixon Telegraph 3.90

Net amt. to be paid Stephan & Heagy $637.35

Leaving amt. to be paid by Ashton Twp. to

Stephan & Heagy $645.25

H. A. Knetsch,
G. P. Finch,
T. W. Clayton,
W. F. Avery,
W. F. Burhenn.

Lee Co. Road & Bridge Comm.

Thereupon on motion of Supervisor Edlen seconded by Supervisor Delhotel the said report is approved and the recommendations therein are concurred in by the Board and the Clerk is directed to issue an order as follows:

To Stephan & Heagy, Lee Co. half $637.35

SEE GEYSERLAND IN YELLOWSTONE PARK

Old Faithful hurls enough water into the air daily to supply a city of 300,000 inhabitants.

There are more geysers in Yellowstone Park than in all the rest of the world. Literal volcanoes of water, some of them, for example, Old Faithful, the most famous of all geysers, hurls a column of water 120 to 170 feet into the air every 60 to 80 minutes. This column contains a million and a half gallons of water, or 33,225,000 gallons a day—sufficient to supply a city of 300,000 people.

Old Faithful is just one of the astonishing sights you can see at Yellowstone Park this summer. There are beaver and bear and buffalo, antelope and deer and elk, and 200 species of birds, wily mountain big-horn sheep, too, and giant moose.

You owe yourself such a vacation, one you never can forget, for the appeal of Yellowstone is so strong you will want to return there again and again.

Northern Pacific fine trains will take you to Gardiner Gateway, the northern and original entrance to the Park. The standard Park tour is 4½ days—$54 if you stay at the hotels—$45 at the camps—lodging, meals, sightseeing auto tours included. Leaving by the Cody gateway will give you opportunity to see the spectacular Buffalo Bill country and Cody road.

Round trip fare from Dixon to Yellowstone Park is $56.50. Ask M. E. Harlan, G. A. P. D., 73 E. Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill., Dept. Q, the Northern Pacific representative for full travel information and literature.

Over 200,000 women have so far replied to this question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 out of every 100 of the replies say "Yes," and because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

The Well-Dressed Man

By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

Take the Plunge!

Who does not recall the day when the swimmer was as sorry a sight as a champagne glass brimming with water? Indeed, so shabby and slouchy was his get-up, that he might well have been taken for Ali Baba or any one of his Forty Thieves. He slunk along the beach like an absconding cashier trying to escape the myriads of the law. His clothes reminded one comically of a sail; becalmed, slapping against a mast. There was neither fit nor style to his suit. It was drab in color. After one dip it shrank two or three sizes. How different today, when the "pro" or "life-guard" swimming suit of the youngster is as smartly cut and trimly fitting as any lounge suit and, besides, is embellished with the richest of patterns and the boldest of colors! Here, as in every other article of dress, the vogue of bright colors has rescued men's clothes from uniformity and monotony and given them character, cheerfulness and individuality.

Pictured in the accompanying sketch is a daring and ultra-advanced wool or worsted swimming suit for the young man or the man who declines to admit that he is old. The shirt is one of these intricate Fair Isle patterns, so named after the well-known island in the Scottish Shetlands the inhabitants of which are past-masters in knitting hosiery and sweaters of extraordinary design and coloring, usually Spanish or Moorish in theme. Fair Isle sweaters or "jumpers", as the English term them, have long led the world. The swimming shirts are a natural development.

Be good enough to observe the snug fit of the shirt and the narrow shoulder-straps and low-cut armholes for easy striking out. The worsted or flannel trunks are full-cut and loose-draping and are adorned with braid or tape down the outer seams, a spruce military effect to which young men are very partial. The chief consideration in selecting one's swimming suit is to make sure that it is pure wool with no admixture of cotton. Otherwise, it will not keep its body-lines, shrinking and pulling out of shape.

We Americans take to swimming as naturally as the Scotch take to oatmeal or the Swiss take to yodeling. We may well plume ourselves upon our undisputed leadership in the designing and making of beach and bathing clothes. We have given them that indeterminate something—style. We have given them that definite something—fit. We have capped both with comfort and added picturesqueness of color and pattern to lend character and personality.

FABLES ON HEALTH

Time was when every mother kept a well-supplied medicine cabinet, and was able to administer first-aid in case of almost every kind of minor injury or ailment.

In addition she gathered roots and herbs from the woods, or cultivated plants of garden properties in her yard or curative.

Doctors were fewer in those days. They often lived at a great distance, and with no telephones nor automobiles it was difficult to obtain a doctor on short notice.

Times have changed. There are more physicians, and they are more efficient. Corner drug stores have sprung up in nearly every locality.

So mothers are learning to depend upon the drug store and the doctors, even as they are learning to depend upon the delicatessen stores and the grocery stores for their meals.

Some good has been brought about by the change, of course. But one is prompted to ask if the drift has not gone too far.

No mother should be ignorant of simple remedies for minor injuries to her children. It should not be necessary to run to the drug store or call the doctor every time Johnny cuts his finger or "stumps" his toe.

The medicine cabinet should be kept in the home. And the mother should know how and when to use its contents.

But—and this is important—be sure that all vials containing poison are correctly labeled, and that they are kept away from the children.

FREEDOM TO 700 BIRDS

London.—The foremost champion in England of freeing animals and birds from captivity is the Duchess of Portland.

Recently she and her husband visited a market where birds were for sale. The duchess induced her husband to buy 700 of them. She took them home and then released them from their cages.

Often when she sees a man abusing a horse, she stops and gives him a lecture against cruelty to animals.

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton © 1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

"I don't know whether I ought to give you that key or not," Miss Briggs said.

she added.
"What's the big idea? . . . Are you getting ready for your second marriage?" Dick asked, sarcastically.
Gloria slowly shook her head. "There won't be any second marriage for me, Dick," she said. "This is my only venture. . . Do you know, it's almost two weeks mother's giving me cooking lessons." seen how much better he was to look at, than any other man alive? "Not that he's so handsome," she remarked to herself, "but he's so . . . himself!" She loved him for the simple fact that he was Dick. For his face, because it couldn't by any possibility be anybody else's . . . and for his mind that was so utterly sound and decent.

"It took me a long time to find it out," Gloria went on thinking, "but I know it at last, now, when it since we separated?" She saw his brows draw down in a scowl. "It's longer than that," he said. "It's almost two months since you ran away from home to follow Stanley Wayburn down to New York!"

Gloria bit her lip. "Oh, won't you ever forget that?" she asked impatiently. "That was just a kid trick. I wasn't half so wild about Stanley Wayburn as I was about New York. And I wanted to get even with you for going away on that trip and leaving me behind!"

"If I could believe that . . . Dick began.
Gloria waited breathlessly, but he said nothing more. Presently he took a book from the pocket of his coat and opened it. He began to read.

Gloria rose and held out her hand. "I must go," she said. "It's getting late. . . ."

Then she sat down again. "I really ought to go," she murmured. But she knew that so long as Dick was there she could not leave. Invisible chains held her to that bench. . . . It was good just to be near him again.

"I showed a couple of people our house last week," Dick remarked presently, without raising his eyes from his book. "I hope they'll buy the furniture, too."

Gloria set her teeth. "It's too bad you can't get rid of the house as easily as you got rid of me, isn't it?" she asked, watching his face. But it was as blank as that of a good poker player or a Hindu.

"I hate the thought of other people living in our house with our things," Gloria went on, after a few minutes. "I don't want anybody to take naps on my chaise longue, or sit in my arm-chair. . . . I don't want any man but you to use that little red smoking stand of yours. . . ."

Her voice broke. She fought hard to keep back the tears that welled up into her eyes.
"You broke into the house the other day, didn't you?" Dick asked suddenly.

Gloria nodded.
"Why?"
She shook her head. She knew that if she tried to talk, she would burst into tears.

It was almost sunset, and picnic baskets on their arms. Somehow or other the women were better looking than the men. Perhaps it was their ready-made smartness. . . . But anyway, besides Dick, the men looked flabby and weedy to Gloria. . . . or else too fat and solid. . . . Why, she wondered, had she never
